SAD-EYED ANIMAL EATS WHILE THE HOUNDS WORK.

President of S. P. C. A. Said the Pet Was Really Too Friendly to Be Chased by Cruel Dogs and Huntsmen.

(Special to The Evening World.)

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Dec. 5.-Instead If the deer hunt that Peter F. Collier ad planned for the hunting set here lo-day, there was a chase after an aniseed bag, while the patient deer reposed at ease in a box in a livery stable. The deer hunt was spoiled by President Haines of the S. P. C. A.

Mr. Haines was around before the advertised hour for the hunt, attended by the sheriff. He announced that he rould cause the arrest of any and all persons who should engage in turning deer loose to be chased by fox hounds. There was a whole lot of ground for elieving that Mr. Haines meant what he said and Mr. Collier called off the

"If we can't hunt a deer," he said "by Diana, we can chase the bag!" And so a man was sent across counbry dragging an aniseed bag and the has and the hunters started after the hounds and a long line of persons rehicles started after the hunters.

In the mean time, as hereinbefore re marked, the deer reposed at his ease in a box in a livery stable partaking of Deer Didn't Look Happy. Mr. Collier arranged the hunt. The project had been under way for a week. Word of it did not reach the community at large until yesterday, when wood by express from Eatontown, N. J. was securely boxed and did not ap-shelf.

After the deer had been properly admired by the natives at the station it was carted to Dwyer's barn and placed on exhibition. It so happened that one of those who passed and was attracted was Miss Gertrude Leslie, head of the local branch of the S. P. C. A. Miss Leslie is a lover of animals. She has a beautiful country place here which she calls Mon Repos and much of her time is spent in alleviating the distress of persecuted dogs, cats and horses.

Oh, Dear! No Danger at All.

When she learned that the deer was in Lakewood to be hunted she busied herself. It was the first she had heard of the proposed hunt. Forthwith she posted to Mr. Coilier and asked him if he would not spare the animal.

Mr. Coilier said that the deer would be as safe in the hunt as in a stable. He explained that the animal would be released in an open field south of the lake and given a start of five minutes. Miss Leslie was not satisfied. She conferred with members of the Lakewood S. P. C. A. and it was decided to send for Mr. Haines. who lives at Toms River.

Mr. Haines reached here this morning and inspected the deer. He gave it as his opinion that it would be more merciful to the the animal on the track of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and let one of the palatial trains hit it than to turn k loose and let foxhounds chase it. He appeared to think that the deer instead of running away would want to frolic with the hunters.

The Cunsard line steamship Etruria, which sailed to-day at 5 A. M. for Liverpool, also carried a large mail, principally for the north of Eugland.

The mail race this week will be between the Philadelphia and the Etruria. The former has the advantage of speed and the officials of the American line believe that she can cut down the time handicap and get her mail into London for delivery shead of the Cunard line.

The officials of the American line claim that since the change in their sailing dates only once in four times has the Cunard mail arrived in London whead of that on their steamship.

Last week (500,000 pieces of foreign mail were handled at this port, but it is expected that during the coming week 25,000,000 pieces will pass through the foreign branch post-office. The White Star time steamship Arabic brought in 2,600 sacks of mail metter.
